
1. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

This regulation defines the terms of reference of the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons (RACS) International Engagement Committee.

As a fellowship based organisation, RACS Fellows are guardians of the highest standards of the surgical profession. RACS seeks to deploy Fellows in their roles of advisors, researchers, trainers and knowledge transfer partners as the voices for the College in the global surgery arena and as advocates for universal access to safe surgical care.

There are numerous national and international organisations whose activities and reach overlap or complement those of RACS. Building collaborative partnerships can provide mutual benefit and contribute to improving surgical services and outcomes worldwide.

The International Engagement Committee is a committee of Council, accountable to Council for the strategy that fosters international collaborations and leverages shared experiences to expand the surgical, professional and cultural standards and contributions of RACS Fellows.
